

ClearTransformation

“ Sustainable change is both doing new things and doing old things in new ways ”

Tony Price | Principal Consultant, Virtual Clarity

What needs to change?

Over time, most enterprises have evolved ways of working and organizational silos that were intended to deliver economies of scale, but mainly succeed in protecting the status quo.

These silos are often stuck with long-cycle bureaucratic processes that limit the rate of change. Many businesses are crying out for faster change – they must adapt to survive in a world where barriers to entry for competitors are falling, and those competitors do not have the same legacy to carry.

The new world of adaptive enterprises focuses on reducing time to market, speeding innovation and managing cost and risk. This is achieved through ‘just enough’ process, robust automation and the delegation of decision-making to the point of action.

Of course, we recognize that in many cases the old technology is still required and will be needed for the foreseeable future.

“ Excellence is achieved by mastery of the fundamentals ”

Vince Lombardi | US football player, coach, and executive in the National Football League.

We avoid overlaying complex methodologies and frameworks. We have an open mind with no preconceptions of the solution, which enables us to create the right team, make the right changes and deliver the right outcome.

We do this through extensive practical knowledge and experience, combined with unique intellectual property and obsessive return on energy. We rapidly identify the challenges by applying skills, good principles and the latest industry approaches in small manageable increments, so you maintain momentum.

Our expert practitioners bring multiple approaches and identify the right approach or combination of approaches to meet your desired outcomes. And we mean expert practitioners – senior advisors who know the difference between theoretical and achievable.

We believe in understanding the big picture whilst not becoming obsessive about perfection. Starting with tangible activities that deliver true value and eliminate organizational pain whilst incrementally making changes to the operating model has proven to be both successful and effective.

